Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Collected Works of Christian Fenger, M.D, Vol. 2: 1840 1902 The third specimen is a stone from the pelvis of a kidney. The patient, Mrs. P., aged thirty, from Dakota, had always been healthy, with the exception of chronic indigestion, for which she had been under medical treatment off and on for years, until a year ago last March, when she noticed intermittent pains in the right side, soon followed by a whitish sediment in the urine. She gradually lost strength and flesh, and the attacks of pain, often running down the right leg, became more frequent and more severe. On admission to Emergency Hospital she looked exceedingly pale and emaciated; a swelling 7 inches long and 4 inches broad was found in the right side of the abdomen, extending from 1 inch to the right of the umbilicus outward and backward into the region of the kidney. The tumor was somewhat tender to the touch, indistinctly fluctuating, and slightly movable below and separated from the liver. An exploratory puncture in the lumbar region...
