Not illustrated. 1885 Excerpt: .side of the low area; and in several of the cases, the influence of this high area was similar to that already noticed in Nos. 12 and 17. The low area was crowded Southward, and the depression gradually closed up, and became nearly or quite extinct. In some of the remaining cases in which the depression did not close up, the high pressure on the North side was apparently the cause which crowded the low area so far to the Southward. 53. The low areas enumerated in the preceding table were generally followed by a strong wind from the North or North-west. This will be seen from the following table, which shows the height of the barometer with the direction and force of the wind, at five stations in several cases in which the low centres passed nearest to Galveston, in Texas. 54. It sometimes happens that storms originating within the Torrid zone, or within two or three degrees of it, and South of the United States, pursue a course of nearly 1000 miles almost directly towards the North, while others pursue a very direct course towards the North-east. Table XX shows cases in which storms have traveled Northward and Eastward, and came from a point as far South as Lat. 26. The arrangement of the Table is similar to that of Table XVIII. Columns 3 and i show the position of the storm centre at the beginning and end of the North-easterly motion, as far...
